Course Description: This course offers a broad survey of the role of religion in American history and culture. We will explore the contours of religion in North America from the pre-Columbian period to the present. This course pays special attention to American religious diversity and the complexities of American religious life. We will look at the encounter and exchange that occurred among religious communities during the past 400 years, and the manner in which this influenced the development of a unique and dynamic North American religious landscape. Further we will explore the religious dimensions of gender, race, and the development of the interaction of American religion and politics.

During the course I would like you to consider the following questions: What is the role of religion in the development of the United States and American identity? How do (North) Americans embody, practice, and express their religions and religious identities? How does the American religious landscape influence, and how is it influenced by immigration, politics, technology, and broader social trends? And, what is and isn’t unique about American religious history and culture?

This course fulfills CORE requirements: Writing and Communication, Revision (WCr), Writing and Communication in a Discipline (WCd), Historical Analysis (HST)

- H: Understand the bases and development of human society endeavors across time and place
- K: Explain the development of some aspect of a society or culture over time, including the history of ideas or history of science
- I: Employ historical reasoning to study human endeavors

The Required Texts for the course:
Textbooks are available at the Rutgers Bookstore, a Barnes & Noble College Bookstore—one Ferren Mall.

ALL other articles and primary sources will be available on SAKAI.

Other readings or media may be assigned during the course of the semester.

ALL reading must be completed prior to the class for which it is assigned.

Attendance & Participation

Students are expected to attend each class on time. Attendance will be taken at each class meeting. You are permitted three unexcused absences. Following the third unexcused absence, 1/3 of a letter grade will be deducted for each unexcused absence. Students who encounter any extended problem with absences, for example, for medical or family emergencies, or religious reasons, must inform me in writing about the reason and duration of the absence. Decisions on excused absences will be made on a case-by-case basis.

Students are expected to attend all classes; if you expect to miss one or two classes, please use the University absence reporting website https://sims.rutgers.edu/ssra/ to indicate the date and reason for your absence. An email is automatically sent to me.

 You will have SIX short quizzes over the course of the semester. Quizzes cover all material assigned, including the date of the quiz. Additional pop quizzes may be assigned, but ONLY if necessary.

Student participation is an integral component for the success of this class. Course participants will be expected to arrive to class on time, and prepared to discuss the assigned readings. Please bring assigned readings to class, as we will frequently consult the text, particularly the primary sources. Participation not only means asking questions and involving oneself in the classroom discussion, it also means actively listening to others.

 Students are required to read the materials in advance of our class meetings.

Requirements & Grading System:

 Please note, this is the grading scale that I will use for this class:

- Attendance, participation, in-class assignments (5%)
- Quizzes (20%)
- Essay #1 (3-4 pages)-Primary source analysis (15%)
   due 10/17 at the beginning of class. Papers must be submitted both in hard-copy and via Turnitin. [[peer review component 10/10]]
